

Highway Warning

(An Editorial)

The highway warning signs are flashing with increasing urgency for those Arkansas citizens who want to see their road system saved from a reversion to political domination. For the most part, these signs can be identified through the rumors that are "leaked" to the press of the impending resignation or firing of Herbert Eldridge, Director of Highways.

From unimpeachable sources we have it that the rumor phase of getting rid of Mr. Eldridge is about over and that concrete action toward forcing his resignation is near at hand.

As a builder of roads, Mr. Eldridge has the overwhelming endorsement of the people of Arkansas. He is recognized as having superior professional qualifications and not a trace of scandal has touched the highway program during his tenure. What he is generally conceded to lack in public relations technique is more than offset by his integrity and the results that speak for themselves.

It is to be conceded that the five man commission and not Mr. Eldridge will be the individuals that ultimately decide the fate of our Arkansas highway program. Apparently this commission is divided in its convictions, ranging from utmost dedication to the Mack-Blackwell amendment which was overwhelmingly adopted by the voters of Arkansas, to unalterable opposition to this law.

While Mr. Eldridge cannot and should not be able to control the actions or this commission, his continuation as director will be the best indication to the people that both the letter and the spirit of the Mack-Blackwell amendment is being followed.

In all fairness, we believe the urge to oust the highway director does not stem entirely from the politicians. We believe there are many other self-serving interests, who formerly waxed fat out of the political way of building highways, that would like to have Eldridge out of the way.

As a result of the 90 per cent participation provided for highway construction on the interstate system by the national congress, Arkansas now stands on the threshold of the greatest road-building area in its history. The tremendous expenditures involved, we believe, are in direct proportion to the political temptation to recapture the control of these funds. The reasons are obvious.

Tremendous though these expenditures may be, public opinion is one of the few things that we know of that speaks louder than money. The overwhelming adoption of the Mack-Blackwell amendment by the people was not enough. Their continued vigilance is the price of seeing that the law is obeyed.

The pressure for the resignation of an individual in Mr. Eldridge's position can be unrelenting and intolerable. Be that as it may, we believe that Mr. Eldridge can perform a public service for the people of Arkansas by refusing to resign until such time as the people have had an opportunity to voice their feelings to those in authority.

The voice of the people in Arkansas is irresistible if only they become interested enough to become vocal. At stake is the ouster of a public servant with an outstanding record of accomplishment and unblemished integrity. The individual citizen must make his voice heard now to his elected representatives or share the responsibility for providing an open road and the green light to those who would return us to the ways of political plunder.

Military Coup Seizes Power in the Sudan

By WILTON WYNN

CARLO (AP) — Another Middle Eastern parliamentary democracy went into eclipse today when army commander Gen. Ibrahim Abboud seized power in a military coup in Sudan.

The coup unseated the pro-Western government of Premier Abdul-Jah Khalil.

At noon, the official Sudan radio broadcast that army units from all parts of the sprawling African nation reported all quiet.

The Abboud coup, so far as can be determined here, had the backing of the entire army.

The government radio in Khartoum, the Sudanese capital, broadcast a declaration in the name of Abboud promising to do his best to achieve good relations with President Nasser's United Arab Republic.

British sources in London saw Abboud's coup as an army bid to stall a political reconciliation with the U.A.R. They said the news, which was reported to the government by the British mission at Khartoum, was no surprise.

Abboud also ordered immediate dissolution of all political parties, supervision of all newspapers, and prohibition of any demonstrations or political meetings.

The overthrow of the Khalil regime came as Nasser and the Sudanese government were trying to patch an old-standing difference over division of the Nile waters, their frontiers and trade matters.

The Sudanese Parliament was scheduled to meet later this month and both sides had expressed hope that an agreement would be ready for ratification by that time.

Abboud's military coup upset one of the few parliamentary democracies left in the Middle East. Sudan obtained independence from joint British-Egyptian control Jan. 1, 1956, and since that had maintained a parliamentary system. The government had since consistently with the West and frequently had been embroiled in disputes with Nasser's regime.

Like other military chiefs who have seized power in the Middle East and Asia recently, Abboud accused his country's political leaders of corruption and disension which had hamstrung government operations.

"You should all know to what extent our country has reached in corruption," he said in a statement. "It has reached into government machinery and all authorities without exception. All this is due to a political crisis which stands between all political parties."

"As to the U.A.R.," he continued, "we shall do our best to improve relations between the two countries to solve all pending problems and remove fabricated dissension."

Khalil became prime minister in July 1956 when his Umma party formed a coalition with the People's Democratic party to bring down the Cabinet of pro-Egyptian Ismail Ahar.

20 Persons Die Violently in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Twenty — one persons died violently in Arkansas during the week which ended last midnight. Traffic accidents accounted for 12 deaths.

Fire claimed three lives, farm mishaps two, accidental electrocution one, shooting two and a child died from breathing kerosene fumes.

An automobile and a pickup truck collided five miles south of Pine Bluff yesterday, killing two Negro men.

Killed in the head-on crash on U.S. Highway 65 were Freddie Lee Hall, 26, and Yelva Anthony, 29, both of Pine Bluff. Both were traveling in the automobile.

An accidental shooting Saturday night killed Francis W. Brady, 29, of the Naylor community near Condon.

Sherrif Joe Castleberry said Brady was killed at Lake Conway when he climbed into his car and shot himself, which had been left there, accidentally discharged.

Mrs. Rufus Lovell, 43, was accidentally electrocuted at Benton Saturday when she touched a television antenna wire that was in contact with a power line.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Bill Dyer said the TV antenna wire apparently had touched wires for a washing machine and a light fixture.

Near Belleville, a car smashed into a guard abutment and overturned, killing 21-year-old Robert Anderson. The accident happened on State Highway 14.

DAR Selects Good Citizens of This Area

The following Hempstead County Senior girls have been selected to receive the Good Citizenship award offered each year by the John Chin Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution:

Jamye Ruth Sewell, Blevins; Carolyn McIver of Quensey; Ann Cole of Hope; Melanie Parker of Lewisville and Patsy Carroll of Nashville.

All high schools in this area have been invited to participate. Each selection is made by senior class members and the faculty. Eligibility is based on dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

The girls will be honored, later in the school year, with a luncheon and presentation of emblems.

Plane Vanishes in Colorado Blizzard

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — A C-46 cargo plane with two crewmen aboard vanished in a northern Colorado blizzard Sunday morning.

The pilot, F. L. Courtell of Hayward, Calif., reported that one of the plane's two engines had failed. Courtell said he would turn back to Denver from where the plane had departed for Hill Air Force Base, Utah. It wasn't heard from again.

Steady snowfall and heavy fog hindered snowplows. Courtell's pilot was identified as Calvin Clou of Napa, Calif.

The plane, owned by Control Airways of Nashville, Tenn., was under contract to the Air Force.

All Around Town

Game Warden Dale Bond and Lester Wade were still trying to get a complete check on the number of deer killed in Hempstead County last week — they believed it would be in the neighborhood of 100 which far exceeds any season in the past — there were two illegal kills, the Warden said.

Bud Collier brought by a pretty fair deer Monday morning. It weighed one pound and 12 ounces and was grown by Jim Carman who lives out on Prescott Rd. 3 miles from the Sweet Home Community.

One Hope student is enrolled at the University of Houston for the 1958 fall semester. He is Jaymore L. Churchwell, son of S. L. Churchwell of Hope Rd. 2.

A former Hope resident will appear as a contestant on the NBC network quiz show, "Contestants."

You read in Saturday's Star how Mrs. George M. Green of Hope recovered in Herbert Byers' Antique Shop a plate she painted as a young girl artist 50 years ago — and which had been all over America before finally returning to the hands of the artist.

Well, here is Mrs. Green and her famous plate, photographed in her home at 308 West Avenue C Sunday afternoon by the staff.

Mrs. Green wore that delighted look while examining the initials "F von J" which she put on the reverse of the plate half a century ago.

"F von J" — for Frieda von Jagersfeld, when she had just finished a course in painting china at Maddox Seminary in Little Rock. Maddox Seminary long since vanished — but there's the plate, bright as new china, stacked with others in Mrs. Green's cabinet.

Christmas Seals Help TB Patients

The 1958 Christmas Seals were placed in the mail today by the Hempstead County Tuberculosis Association.

These seals were prepared for mailing by members of the PBO and by the Hopewell Home Demonstration Club under the supervision of Mrs. L. D. Springer, Penny Franks and Nancy Tooley assisted with the final preparation.

Charles Reynerson, county chairman, reminds that TB is a serious, major disease. But most people who have TB can get well if the disease is found early and treated properly.

Purchase of Christmas Seals will help stimulate the provision of facilities for case finding, diagnosis, treatment, and rehabilitation of people with TB, rather than providing these facilities directly.

Ninety-four per cent of the money derived from the sale of Christmas Seals is spent in the state in which it is raised.

Mr. Reynerson suggests that Christmas Seals be used on letters, packages, and even for all kinds of Christmas decorations.

Thus, the message of help and hope is spread by Christmas Seals bearing the double-barred cross.

Russia Comes Up With a New Proposal

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union proposed an international treaty today to prevent plagues from carrying any nuclear weapons over the territory of other countries and the high seas.

The proposal was submitted by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Gennadiy V. Kuznetsov to the 10-nation conference on prevention of surprise attack.

Western officials said the proposal was completely outside the scope of the present talks. Its submission obviously took them by surprise.

The West submitted a new proposal for a plan of work for the conference. This was understood to insist that the talks be confined to technical, non-political matters. In the Western view, the conference has been called only to discuss methods of surprise attack and the procedures required for an international alert system against such attacks.

The Soviet Union has sought since the opening of the talks on Nov. 10 to bring in a whole range of political and disarmament questions which the Western experts have refused to discuss.

The talks on suspension of nuclear tests were deadlocked, with little hope of a breakthrough. Western sources said if there is to be any change, the Soviets will have to do the bidding.

At Least 27 Are Missing as Winter Storms Lash U.S.

Winter Spreads Across Sections of the Nation

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — At least 27 persons were reported missing in Arizona today as skies cleared after one of the most severe winter storms in years.

At least 16 persons, including three Boy Scouts, were missing in frosty southern Arizona Mountain ranges near Tucson.

More than 50 persons were snow-bound at Mt. Lemmon Lodge in the Santa Catalina Mountains near the southern community.

In the north, 11 persons, most of them deer hunters, were reported missing.

Most of the concern is being expressed for the three thinly clad and damage running possibly into south and two Phoenix hunters missing in the north.

IOWA PARK, Tex. (AP) — Tornadoes and hurricane-like winds swept north Texas, leaving one dead, more than a dozen injured and damage running possibly into the millions today.

Gainesville today suffered half a million dollars in damage, by state police estimates.

Heavy damage also occurred in and around Wichita Falls near the Oklahoma border.

Killed was Matthew Roberts, 36, an Odessa oilfield worker who died when wind-blown sign hit the oil rig on which he was working today.

A pair of cold fronts moving across the state touched off the violent weather and dropped temperatures as much as 30 degrees.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Violent weather, including tornadoes, cloudbursts and the season's harshest blizzard hit the nation's mid-region today — the Rocky Mountains and the Great Plains.

The vast storm, spreading eastward, dumped heavy snowfalls in the mountains and central Plains, and whipped them into drifts with high, cold winds.

It deluged parts of Missouri with as much as 11 inches of rain. It ripped communities in north central Texas with twisters and tornado winds.

The rampancy weather caught motorists, hunters and hikers with sudden fury.

The snowfall, up to 16 inches in the Dakotas, tied up road and air travel in some areas, and caused at least one death on an ice-slick highway.

It trapped at least five persons in Arizona where three-foot drifts Continued on Page Two

Temperatures to Dip in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A sharp fall in temperatures early Tuesday is expected to write in a two day unseasonable heat wave in Arkansas.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock reported that a slow-moving cold front would pass over western Oklahoma and part of Texas late today and arrive in Arkansas about 6 a. m. Tuesday.

By the time the cold front arrives Arkansas temperatures are expected to be hovering between 57 and 60 degrees. Then the mercury is due to fall to the mid to high 40s.

The cold front should stay in Arkansas until late Wednesday or early Thursday. After that temperatures will become moderate, the weatherman said.

Accompanying the front will be occasional showers and local thunderstorms. Several thunderstorms are expected in extreme northwest Arkansas.

Johnson Assures UN America Is Behind Ike

By MAG HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson assured the U.N. today the American people are solidly behind the Eisenhower administration's proposal for international cooperation in outer space.

The Senate Democratic leader told the General Assembly's 81-nation political committee.

"On the goal of dedicating outer space to peaceful purposes for the benefit of all mankind, there are no differences within the government, between our parties, or among our people."

Johnson joined in the U.N. outer space debate in an effort to dispel any doubts as to whether the government still commands the full support of the country on this issue since the Democratic victory in the Nov. 4 Congressional elections.

The Democratic leader asserted that today outer space is free and it must remain this way.

"We of the United States," he said, "do not acknowledge that there are landlords of outer space who can presume to bargain with the nations of the earth on the price of access to this new domain."

Johnson said both houses of Congress were in full support of the view that the U.N. "should assume the responsibility of leadership in promoting international cooperation in the exploration of outer space."

He specifically endorsed a resolution submitted to the committee last week by the United States and 19 other countries proposing a special U.N. body to lay the groundwork for an international space agency.

Before his speech, Johnson was introduced to the regular delegates in the committee by U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. Lodge also yielded his front-row committee seat to Johnson, during the meeting so the Senate majority leader could make his speech. Then he explained the U.N.'s multiple-translation system so Johnson could listen to other speakers.

Morrilton Reports Tornado

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — Tornadoes ripped through two Conway County communities last night, destroying farm buildings and damaging several homes.

Sheriff Martin Hawkins estimated total damage at $13,000. The twisters hit the Overcup Community five miles north of here and the Ada Valley Community, 12 miles southwest of Morrilton.

Sammy Underwood, who lost a barn and the roof of his house, told officers he saw two separate funnels strike the Overcup Community about 7 p. m. He said one roared in from the southwest and one came from the southwest.

Hawkins said a twister struck the Ada Valley Community about the same time. It was presumed this twister was one of the funnels that tore into Overcup.

Heavy rain accompanied the tornadoes. Other damage at Overcup included destruction of four barns and a farm outbuilding. Porches were blown off two houses. A broiler house was damaged and 67 broilers killed.

At Ada Valley, three barns were unroofed and several homes damaged.

Range Rocket May Go Out of Existence

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The long range intercontinental ballistic missile and the cold facts of the intermediate range rocket out of the United States arsenal.

That trend was indicated in a news conference by Secretary of Defense McElroy Thursday.

McElroy hastened to say that the United States will go ahead with production of the Thor and Jupiter IRBMs to complete orders for weapons to be deployed to Europe—to England and probably Italy.

But the defense chief also said that "the farther you go down the road of the ICBM, the less interesting it is to employ additional IRBMs."

With the ICBM, which would be launched from bases in the United States, "we would have complete control," commented McElroy. This presumably meant that the United States would be free of the complications of sharing with other countries control of the IRBMs, which, in the case of the Thor, would be fired from bases in allied nations.

McElroy had another point to make. If an enemy had to use his own ICBMs to strike U.S. missile bases, the job would be more difficult at 5,000 miles range than at 1,500—the range of an IRBM. The first missile to be pitched would not be ours, but the enemy's. We would have more time, even if only half an hour, to start counter-measures than we would if the reliance was on medium-range missiles at forward bases overseas, he implied.

McElroy's remarks seemed to suggest encouraging hope for perfection of ICBMs. Currently, the Air Force has three ICBM projects. They are the Atlas, the Titan and the Minuteman. The Minuteman is to be a solid fuel instead of liquid fuel rocket, more reliable in firing and easier to install in heavily fortified underground launching positions.

McElroy's news conference also brought word of another change in military planning. The Defense Department, he said, will reinstate its program for cutting 55,000 more men out of the Army and Marine ground forces. The cutback was delayed when crises developed in Lebanon and Formosa, and U.S. troops were rushed to Lebanon.

McElroy said "we are about ready to start" again on the cutback. This means that by next June 30 the Army should be down to 387,000 men and the Marines to 175,000.

She looked at Mr. Whetherby closely now, watched him calmly eating his breakfast, and wondered what help he could give her. She still felt, just as she had felt with Amy last night, that she did not want to involve anyone else, that involvement would complicate her plight. She was not going to tell him anything, but she wanted in some way to make him her ally.

She was still considering in silence how this might best be done when Jill brought in her breakfast and put it down in front of her.

Mr. Whetherby said, "Now, this'll make you feel better. Katherine said quickly, 'What makes you think I don't feel like now?'"

"You look," said Mr. Whetherby, "as if I don't sleep very well. That's the only thing that gave me such an idea."

"Oh, I slept all right."

He nodded his head, looking at the driftwood.

"The fact of the matter," she said, "is that I spent the night out last night." She regretted saying it the moment the words were out of her mouth, but it was too late.

"Out?"

"I mean I . . . I stayed with the Ransomes."

"You did?"

"Yes, What's the matter?"

She could tell that she had said something wrong. His expression was too bland, too mild. She put a bite of egg into her mouth, then chewed it together, gazing away at the pictures on the wall in front of her—hunting prints and white mials and red frames—and tried to summon up the innocent look.

"But the Ransomes weren't at home last night."

"What?" She was obliged to look at him now.

"I met them out on the road."

Yesterday afternoon just as they were leaving, I'd gone out for a walk.

"They might have come back," she said stubbornly.

He smiled at her pleasantly. "They pulled up and talked to me for a moment. I like them, don't you? Such nice, natural people. They said they'd just been over to your house. They were going up to town for the weekend, they said. They planned to be back Tuesday. They'd brought you some fresh country eggs they'd gotten because they wouldn't be able to use them all."

She was trapped again, of course, a nice, everyday little conversational trap. Why hadn't she kept quiet from the beginning? Now there was very little point in trying to change her story. She said, "Well, I sort of camped in their house."

"Ah."

"The front door was unlocked."

He looked away from her again; he had withdrawn his attention. In a way she was relieved and glad. But then she began to be sorry, too. He did not believe her.

A page of Paul's diary sprang up in her memory. She could see it as if it were before her eyes: 11:00—Shopping. Post Office. 1:00—Martha and Ed to lunch. 3:00—Golf with Ed and Henry. Ed was Mr. Ransome. Henry was Mr. Whetherby. They were all friends. They called each other by their first names; Paul and Mr. Whetherby played golf together; the Ransomes stopped their car to talk to Mr. Whetherby when they saw him walking along the road.

It was all horribly like a conspiracy, the closeness of the groupings around her, the neighbors, the friends. She was the only one who was by herself. She felt so urgently the need of making contact with one of them—with Mr. Whetherby in particular—that she heard herself blurting out the incoherent question: "Do you really like Paul?"

"Why, of course I like him."

He was looking at her again now. He said, "Why do you ask?"

"Oh, no reason."

"Your mother was a wonderful woman, my dear. And she loved him. That's a recommendation in itself."

But he—

"I see that Jill forgot your pickled peach. Just ring the bell again, will you? Oh, Jill, yes. You hadn't forgotten it after all, had you, Susan?"

Jill had gone again; the kitchen door flapped in its frame.

Mr. Whetherby said, "Some of the things I see are surprisingly ornamental. I believe you're quite right. It would be fun."

"Yes."

There were one bite of egg and one piece of bacon left on his plate. He ate them both, and pushed back his chair. It was a movement that alarmed Katherine. She thought, 'What's he doing now?—a quick squirt of snout?'

But he said, "Will you excuse me for a few moments, my dear."

"Yes."

"I have to get dressed to go to church."

"You're going to church this morning? Right now?"

"In a few minutes. Why?"

"But when will you be back?"

She was being deserted again, the whirl of growings was moving away from her, circling past like the mouth of a funnel. She thought with dismay, 'What am I going to do now? What can I do?'

Mr. Whetherby said, "I'll be back around noon. I expect"

Water Covers Rail Bridge Near Hardy

HARDY, Ark. (AP)—Floodwaters of the rain-swollen Spring River covered the Frisco Railway bridge at nearby Mammoth Spring today. The bridge was inundated last night after a heavy downpour in this area.

U.S. Highway 63 between Hardy and Mammoth Spring was under water for about six hours during the night, Arkansas Highway Department officials reported.

Traffic was able to get through on the highway today.

Highway Department spokesmen said several Sharp County bridges were impassable because of high water. They said Tumbling Shoals Bridge on state Highway 25 above Heber Springs in Cleburne County also was flooded out.

Full extent of the flooding could not be determined immediately.

No injuries were reported. Near Hardy a family of six persons had to be evacuated from low-lying ground last night and reports said many head of livestock had to be moved from inundate areas.

Girls Named Heirs to an Austria Castle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two girls, whose home is a modest flat in San Francisco, are the heirs to an Austrian castle and one-fourth of a million dollars.

The Chronicle said today they are the daughters of the late Archduke Albrecht von Hapsburg-Lorraine, who once hoped for the crown of Hungary. He died in 1955.

The newspaper said it learned of the girl's good fortune by telephone from Christian Broda, an attorney in Vienna. Broda said an Austrian court had ruled that the archduke's true wife was their mother, Catherine Lorraine, a well-groomed clerk in a financial district office here.

She had not told Lidika, 16, and Sarolta, 18, that they might become little holders until 1952 when she filed a suit here and became their legal guardian.

The mother is to receive a comfortable living from the estate, Broda said, but the daughters will get a much larger share.

The Austrian court ruled out a Mexican divorce the archduke had obtained, the attorney continued, and then ruled that it would not recognize his subsequent marriage to Lidia Straus, a Hungarian singer with whom he lived in Buenos Aires until his death.

The mother's 1938 marriage to the archduke broke up shortly after they fled to America in 1944, the newspaper said, and the mother and her daughters settled in San Francisco while the archduke took the name Albrecht Conde Sifana and moved to Latin America.

Welfare Asks $56 Million From the ALC

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Welfare Department today asked the Arkansas Legislative Council to okay a budget request of more than 56 million dollars annually for the coming biennium.

This is almost four million dollars a year higher than the current appropriation.

However, the state funds involved—$14,300,000—are the same as in the current budget. That would leave more than 42 million dollars a year to be granted in federal funds.

Asst. Welfare Commissioner A. J. Moss told the council such a percentage of match in funds would be a record for the nation.

At the request of some lawmakers, the Welfare Department plans to set up funds to enable medically indigent welfare recipients to receive treatments at local hospitals rather than at the Medical Center here. Inability of patients in outlying areas to receive treatment at the center has been a long-standing problem.

Moss told the council the workload of the Welfare Department had increased to a point where it involves 40,000 persons directly.

The budget request sought 2 million dollars a year for salaries and maintenance. This is about $300,000 higher than the amount in the current appropriation.

The total amount asked for salaries was $1,600,000 annually, compared to the present $1,300,000. The difference was mainly for modest increases in middle and lower salary brackets.

No injuries were reported.

Fired Workers File Charges at Booneville

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Two former employees of the state tuberculosis sanatorium at Booneville have filed suit charging they were fired because they testified in a probe concerning the death of a 9-month-old baby at the institution.

Thel Beavers and Mary Everett filed the action in Pulaski Chancery Court. Named as defendants were members of the sanatorium board.

The two women, who said they worked as kitchen assistants at the sanatorium for 14 and 4 years respectively said they were subpoenaed to appear before the Arkansas Claims Commission Nov. 8 to testify on behalf of claimants in a proceeding filed to recover damages for the death of Rickey Neal Biggers, a 9 months old baby.

"Each petitioner appeared in obedience to the subpoena and testified truthfully," the women said in their suit. "On Nov. 8, 1958, each petitioner was summarily discharged for alleged 'disloyalty' to the sanatorium because of having obeyed the subpoena in testifying."

The suit contended the plaintiffs were deprived of their constitutional rights. It asked for a mandatory injunction requiring the board to reinstate the two.

lead only to disaster and frustration.

He said he did not favor may integration or forced integration. "I take the position," he said, "that extremism, in the sense that unreason is abandoned and extreme views advanced, is not the wise course and will lead only to disaster and frustration. It will keep our public schools closed, and will add to the tensions in the community that are disastrous."

Hays said he believed that most Negroes want an upgrading of their own schools rather than complete integration.

"If you integrated in the complete sense, I don't believe many Negro teachers would have jobs in the 'South,' he said.

Hays Has No Thought of Resigning

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) said yesterday he had given no thought to resigning as president of the Southern Baptist convention despite a demand of a Baptist laymen's group in Jackson, Miss.

Hays, who was defeated for reelection by a segregationist write-in candidate, said the Jackson group had no official standing in the Baptist church.

In an interview filmed for television station WDSU-TV in New Orleans, Hays said that extremism in efforts to settle Little Rock's school integration problems would IOWA PARK, Tex. (AP)—Tornadoes ripped through west central and north central Texas today ahead of a pair of cold fronts that dropped temperatures as much as 30 degrees. Eleven persons suffered injuries.

Tornadoes struck near Eastland in west central Texas and at Wichita Falls area in north central Texas near the Oklahoma line.

Most of the injuries occurred at Wichita Falls, seven of them when a funnel flashed across a trailer park. Three large trailers were overturned.

Winds hit Iowa Park, several miles west of Wichita Falls, and wrecked the Texas-Oklahoma Fairgrounds. Oscar Singleton fire chief, reported. He said damage covered a four-block area.

How Many Beans...

Perhaps you, too, stood outside a store window in your youth and tried to estimate the number of beans in a display.

Guessing the circulation of a newspaper was once quite a game for advertisers, too.

But the Audit Bureau of Circulations took all the chance out of this game. A.B.C. auditors don't stand outside and estimate—they come inside the publisher's office and count.

When the auditor is finished and his precise findings published, well there's just no room for guessing.

It's all there in his report—how much circulation, where copies were circulated, how much people paid, and some of the reasons why the people bought our paper.

There's no reason to guess about the circulation audience you get when you advertise in our paper. The facts are down in black and white for you to see.

New Board to Be Decided in 3 Weeks

By CLIFTON WALLS
LITTLE ROCK (AP)— In three weeks Little Rock voters will have another opportunity to express sentiments on school integration. They will choose among 15 candidates seeking school board membership, a now somewhat dubious honor here.

In recent balloting, Little Rock voters have preferred — Segregation and closed public schools, to integration and open schools.

A staunch segregationist as congressman, to a veteran lawmaker with moderate racial views.

There is no indication, however, that any candidate for the six non-segregated school board jobs will run on an integration platform. Instead the issues probably will be segregation at any cost versus maintenance of public schools even if the cost of integration.

Last week, a dramatic mass resignation opened all six school board positions to the regular Dec.
6 school election. Five members walked out. The sixth, Dr. Dale Alford, will leave to enter Congress as a general election writing over Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark).

In pulling free of the federal-state vise in which the school board has been caught since September 1957, the resigning members will meet Thursday, Nov. 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Temple for their regular meeting.

noted that their successors — whoever they might be — still would be faced with federal court rulings commanding integration.
The new board also will have to try to reconcile the federal courts' uncompromising attitude and Gov.
Orval E. Faubus' unyielding anti-integration stand which led to the closing of Little Rock's four public high schools.

U.S. District Judge John B.
Miller of Fort Smith, Ark., said yesterday he would "proceed in an orderly fashion" in carrying out his duties as director of the Eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The U.S. Circuit Court last Monday forbade the leasing of the empty high school buildings for use as private, segregated schools, and directed the district judge and the Little Rock School Board to take positive steps toward integration.

The appellate court did not say what steps should be taken or how they should be carried out.
Judge Miller said he would not delay scheduling a hearing on the Little Rock case.
The incoming school board will be selected from such diverse candidates as an insurance man who once called Gov. Faubus a "skunk" and a "housewife" who recently told a Negro woman who came to church to emphasize a minister.
The candidates for the position were: William F. Reator, insurance man; Rand D. Rowland, Sr., attorney and former school administrator.
2. John Wesley Clayton, insurance man; Mrs. Roy Morrison, housewife; Everett Tucker Jr., industrial development director for the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce.
3. Russell H. Matson, general contractor; C. C. Bailey, business manager for Plumbers and Steamfitters Local 133; Vaughan Winston, trucking service operator.
4. Mrs. John Wesley Clayton, Robert W. Lester, municipal traffic judge; Mrs. Charles W. Stephens, Parent-Teachers Assn. leader.
5. Ed J. McKinley Jr., former city attorney and a former state banking commissioner.
6. J. Lester P. Branscum, doctor and member of the pro-segregationist States Rights Council; Ted L. Lamb, advertising and public relations man; Mrs. Pauline Woodson, vice president of a real estate firm.
It was Reator who last February labeled Faubus a "skunk" and charged that the governor's actions in the school crisis had blocked establishment of a new shopping center here. Faubus retorted calling Reator an "integrationist."
It was Mrs. Morrison, a segregationist, who took the Negro woman to a white church because the pastor had urged compliance with court orders for integration.

Divided on a Strong Civil Rights Plan

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic state chairmen are nearly equally divided on whether the party should adopt a strong civil rights plank in 1960 or compromise with the South.

This division of sentiment was apparent in replies received from Democratic leaders in 42 states to an Associated Press inquiry.
The survey disclosed some strong support outside the South for dealing with civil rights on a basis which would not drive Dixie members out of the party in a presidential year.

On the other hand, chairmen of 18 states representing 206 of the 1,372 votes cast in the 1958 national convention took a no-compromise stand. They declared for a strong plank even if it means a Southern walkout.

These 18 states included: New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island in the East; Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska and Missouri in the Midwest; Colorado, Washington, Oregon and California in the West.

Eleven Southern chairmen were solidly against the party taking any stronger position than it did two years ago, particularly on school integration.

Chairmen of 11 other states, mostly in the Midwest, said the views of Southern delegates should be taken into consideration.

Arizona Chairman Joseph Walton, Maryland's T. Barton Harrington and Nevada's Fred Stro-nider declined comment. Stro-nider said National Chairman Paul M. Butler has instructed party officials not to answer such questions.

Butler expects to find himself involved with the issue at a national committee meeting here Dec. 6. He said his remaining as chairman may depend on reaction to his demand for a stronger civil rights plank than that of 1956.

Two years ago, the Democrats committed themselves to "continued efforts to eliminate illegal discrimination of any kind," including that in public education.

at the same time, the court decisions," said Mrs. Morrison yesterday when asked for comment on her candidacy. Most of the candidates said it was "too early" to discuss the issues.

Reator, Tucker, Matson, Mrs.
Stephens and Lamb were entered as a slate by a group of downtown businessmen, who first tried to persuade the old school board members not to resign and later failed in an effort to convince the city's bank presidents to run for the board.

Until the final hours before the filing deadline Saturday midnight, it had appeared that the only James T. Karam, a clothier and school board candidate might be James T. Karam, a clothier and close personal friend of Gov. Faubus. He pledged to oppose any integration at any time.

But Karam withdrew, saying that he had been advised to do so by a "close personal friend... who has an unenviable ability of placing his many friends in places where they are best needed."

Karam did not identify his friend.

Family Jokes May Laugh
Youngster Into Tragedy

Dear Dorothy Dix:

Magazines and newspapers are always saying "Girls should confide in their mothers." But suppose the mothers won't listen?
Mine won't. If she listens to me at all, she thinks my problems are funny and passes them on to the family as a huge joke. Naturally they laugh and I feel ridiculous.
I guess part of my mothers' reaction to my problems is that she is at the irritable state of life — Cheryl.

Dear Cheryl: Even if mom is at the "irritable state of life" (a euphemism if ever I saw one) she can't be excused for ignoring her daughter's problems. Perhaps she should read the same magazines and newspapers you do. Leave them around the house at strategic points. The kitchen table or the ironing board, for instance. Clip this out and paste it over the kitchen sink.

Any mother who discourages a young daughter's secrets is missing something she can never recapture. She is also neglecting one of her prime responsibilities. The proper guidance of her children is her job and if she doesn't know what problems they face, how can she help them? Perhaps your mother isn't very smart or doesn't think she is capable of coping with your secrets. She can get help from many sources, so that's no excuse.

If you look elsewhere for help, if you get the wrong advice, if you get into any kind of trouble, your mother will be largely responsible.
You're a bewildered young girl and should not be the butt of funny jokes. Unless your family realizes that, they will be very very sorry.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
Several months ago my husband deserted us. I have heard that there is an organization that tries to help families in our situation.
I would certainly appreciate having their address — Lina P.

Dear Lina: The organization is the Family Location Service Inc., at 61 Union Square West, New York 30, N. Y. Their aim is to locate family deserters and reunite families.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
Our only child, a boy, will be 21. He is a fine son, goes to college, works part time, is kind, thoughtful and helpful. My problem is that I always want to know his friends, where they are going and in whose company he is. If he goes out of town for a weekend I think I should know where he is going, how long he will be and when he will be back. Suppose something happened at home and we had to get in touch with him?
He feels it isn't necessary to give me all those details when he is only going to be away a day or two—Just a Mother.

Dear Mom: Naturally you want to know where your one lamb is all the time. But he's a big boy now, well able to take care of himself without the restrictions of apron strings or horse reins. You must adjust to the fact that he's a grown man and can live part of his life without reporting every detail. You governed his destiny for 21 years and did a very good job. Now it's time to relax. Learn to do it with grace.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
My husband and I can't afford to go out much because we're buying a house and have two small children. Sometimes I play dance records and ask my husband to dance with me. He says he's too busy to be bothered with such nonsense — A.B.C.

Dear A.B.C.: Tell him it's just for practice so you won't get rusty before the house is paid up and the children grown. Kid him along about it and he'll join you in the mambo — a bit sheepishly at first — but he'll do it.

Send your problem to Dorothy Dix. Be sure to enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper.

Speculation on Possible Bowl Teams

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The annual—and rarely successful—guessing game on what teams will play in the big bowl games New Year's Day began in earnest today.

Iowa and Oklahoma already have clinched their berths so that narrows the field some.

Iowa, which clinched the Big 12 title more than a week ago, goes to the Rose Bowl. Oklahoma will make another trip to the Orange Bowl although it still must take care of the formalities of clinching its 11th straight Big 8 crown.

But even in the unlikely event that Nebraska beats the owners—Oklahoma hasn't lost a league game in its last 70 tries—they still head to the Orange Bowl. This is because they have beaten Missouri, the only team that can possibly tie them for the championship.

Here is how the major bowl set-up looks now with two weeks left of the season.

Rose — Iowa vs. California.

Orange — Oklahoma vs. Air Force Academy.

Sugar — Louisiana State vs. North Carolina.

Cotton — Texas Christian vs. Mississippi or Syracuse.

Right behind is the Gator bowl, waiting in the wings for any team that don't get in the others. Gator possibilities include Vanderbilt and Florida.

California has won 7 of its 9 games so far and has only to get past much-bested Stanford to wrap up the Pacific Coast Conference title and the automatic Rose Bowl bid that goes with it.

The Big 8 sends a team yearly to play in the Orange Bowl. The opposition could be the Air Force Academy, which hasn't even graduated its first class yet. The AFA has been tied by Iowa once in 8 games.

Louisiana State, which had a 7-5 squeaker over Mississippi State Saturday night, need only defeat Tulane this week to win the Southwestern Conference championship.

North Carolina still is the top choice as the second Sugar Bowl team despite its 34-24 loss to Notre Dame Saturday. The defeat snapped a 6-game Tar Heel win streak.

With Pitt's 14-6 loss to Nebraska, Syracuse appears to be about the top eligible in the East and that could earn the Orange the Sugar Bowl bid.

Browns Move Nearer to the League Title

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Thundering Jimmy Brown, Cleveland's running virtuoso, today had poked one of the National Football League's juiciest plums, was near another, and had propelled the Browns closer to a division championship.

The bar-bell Cleveland full-back set a season rushing record Sunday as the Browns regained undisputed possession of first place in the Eastern Conference with a 20-10 victory at Washington.

Brown gained 152 yards in 27 tries, totally eclipsing the standard of 1,146 yards set in 12 games by Steve Van Buren of Philadelphia in 1947. The former Syracuse All-American has amassed 1,163 yards in only eight games.

A sophomore in pro ranks, Brown scored twice on short plunges. The Cleveland standout has 17 touchdowns for the season, one short of Van Buren's record.

Cleveland's triumph, coupled with the 31-10 upset of the New York Giants by Bobby Layne and his Pittsburgh mates, left the Browns on top with a 6-2 record. Runner-up New York is a game back at 5-3.

The race in the Western Conference virtually was broken wide open as Baltimore's second-string quarterback, George Shaw, passed the Colts to a 17-0 triumph over Chicago's Bears. Baltimore has a 7-1 record for a two-game lead over Chicago and Los Angeles. The Rams tied for the runner-up spot by knocking off Green Bay 20-7.

In other games halfback Gene Gedman led the way as Detroit pasted San Francisco, 25-21, and Philadelphia easily handled Chicago's Cardinals 49-21.

Brown scored on plunges of one and five yards, but it was a Lou Groza field goal that beat the Redskins. The teams had traded touchdowns and field goals in the first half for a 10-10 tie. With 2:10 remaining in the game, Groza booted a 25-yarder for the victory, although moments later Brown tallied an insurance TD.

After upsetting Cleveland and Baltimore on successive Sunday, the Giant—without halfback Alex Webster and two offensive linemen—were unable to get going

Porkers Turn Back SMU in Major Upset

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

The southwest conference football race can, for all practical purposes, come to a close Saturday—or it can be thrown into wild confusion.

The way things went last week the latter would have a fine chance of prevailing.

Texas Christian moved into the undisputed lead when Rice was upset by Texas A&M 28-21. Southern Methodist fell out of contention when it took a 13-6 pasting from lowly Arkansas.

Saturday Texas Christian goes to Houston to meet Rice with the idea of putting a lid on things. The Christians can clinch the title if they beat the Owls because then they would have only one game left to play and boast a 2-game lead.

But should Rice beat Texas Christian then these two teams would be tied with 4-1 records and Southern Methodist should it beat Baylor, whom it plays in Dallas against a tough Steeler line. Layne passed for one touchdown, set up another on a 69-yard aerial punter and scored twice on short plunges.

Shaw, replacing the injured Johnny Unitas, was spectacular as he made good on 10 of 22 passes for 131 yards. At one point he pitched nine consecutive strikes, six in a 93-yard Colt scoring surge in the second period. He had one TD through the air. The Bears shut out for the first time in 149 games dating back to 1946 were unable to move and found their line perforated by Alan Ameche, who ran for 142 yards and a TD.

Los Angeles moved ahead of the Packers 10-7 by halftime, with a 93-yard pass play from Billy Wade to Jim Phillips giving the Rams the lead. It was the longest pass play in the league this season. Phillips pulled in eight of Wade's tosses for 208 yards. Wade threw for 372 yards on 19 completions in 42 attempts.

Tobin Reed connected for three TD passes, but it was Gedman who brought the Lions their third victory in the last four outings. Gedman aimed his first pass of the season to Howard Cassady for an 81-yard scoring play and scored twice himself for last year's world champions. The long TD aerial came in the first period, just 40 seconds after San Francisco had taken a 7-0 lead.

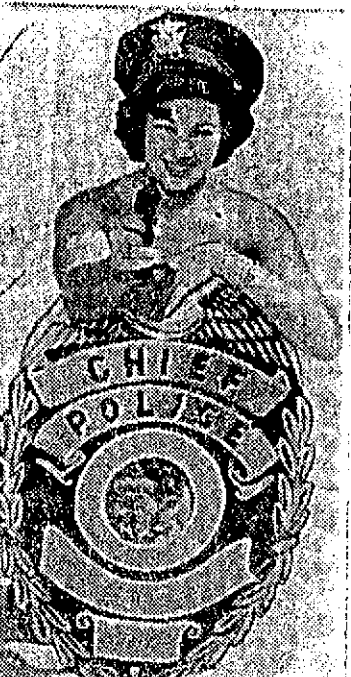

Clarence Peaks who scored four times as the Eagles ran up their highest point total in four years. Philadelphia broke loose against the Cards for three TD within 51 minutes of a five second quarter. Norm Van Brocklin completed 19 of 29 passes for 318 yards and two touchdowns, one to peaks.

Matter of FACT

The pack of canned fruits, vegetables, juices, specialties, milk, meat and fish in the U.S. and its territories during the 1956-57 season was 710,000,000 cases, a new record. Canned milk was the only group which registered a decrease. Canned juices were up 20 per cent over the previous year, vegetables were up 19 per cent and canned meat and fish were each up 15 per cent. The increases were in part due to a 23 per cent increase in exports during the years 1956-57.

Saturday, would be weakly back in the fight with a 3-2 record.

Those two games are the only conference action for the week with Texas and Texas A&M laying out to prepare for their nationally televised Thanksgiving Day battle at Austin. Arkansas plays Texas Tech, a conference member not competing for the championship, at Lubbock.

Texas Christian was magnificent in a second-half comeback that floored Texas 22-8 Saturday and it brought the smell of cotton to the Horned Frogs, who now have a 7-1 record for the season and are nationally rated. If they sack up the conference crown at Houston Saturday they'll be back in the Cotton Bowl after the absence of a year.

Texas Tech took a 9-7 thumping from Tulsa last week and it dropped their conference's inter-sectional record behind for the season. The league won 11 and lost 12 against outside foes.

Tigers Eke Out Victory Over Panthers

In a non-conference contest at Pine Bluff the Yegger Tigers downed the newly-organized Southeast Panthers by a 7 to 6 score. It was the second victory of the season for Yegger.

It was an evenly matched contest during the first half with neither team able to push across a touchdown. In the third period Pine Bluff set up a touchdown on two 20 yard runs to go ahead 6-0. Yegger came back in the final quarter and good runs by McPadden and Scott worked the ball to the six where McPadden went to the two and Henry Reed made it across. Reed ran the point for the Yegger victory.

Yegger made 135 yards rushing in the mud and completed one of three passes for 11 yards and lost 20 yards in penalties. Pine Bluff made 102 yards on the ground, completed two of six passes for 31 yards and were assessed 30 yards in penalties.

Outstanding Yegger players included Frazer, Dennis, Reed, McPadden, Edwards, Turner, Ford, McPadden, Nelson, Warren, Scott, Reed, Nelson, Ayon, Harris and Brandon.

AFL Meeting Underway at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — About 400 delegates convened here today for the Arkansas State Federated Labor Council's 3-day convention. The delegates represent approximately 60,000 members of AFL-CIO unions in Arkansas.

Highlight of the convention will be election of officers, including a possibility that Odell Smith will be replaced as president.

Smith has headed the council since the merger of the AFL-CIO two years ago. He also is president of the statewide Teamsters' Local 888.

Speeches close to the council report that the 54-year-old Smith will decline re-nomination because of a directive from the AFL-CIO national executive committee.

The directive specifies that full-time representatives of unions which have been expelled from the AFL-CIO may not hold stat offices in the organization. The AFL-CIO expelled the Teamsters last December.

Two May Still Be Alive in Snow, Ice

By JERRY TRAPP

HILL AIR FORCE BASE, Utah (AP)—Are two Air Force officers who bled out of a crippled cargo plane still alive after more than three days in the blizzard ravaged mountains of northeastern Utah? Hopes for the survival of Capt. Donald Liggett, 40, Indianapolis, Ind., navigator, and Lt. Donald E. Born, 28, Andover, N.Y., pilot, were dim as the frigid dawn this morning.

Born, Liggett and six other men parachuted from a C119 Friday night when one of its two engines stopped on a flight over the rugged mountains about 30 miles east of here. The plane was en route to its home base here.

Sgt. Ivan Probasco, 31, Buhl, Idaho and Sgt. Joseph A. Reagan, Nellis AFB, Nev., died Saturday from exhaustion and exposure as they tried to fight their way through waist-deep snow and freezing temperatures to help.

A group of the more than 100 weary rescuers combing the desolate mountain area on Saturday found Sgt. Reyno Felner, 36, Hazard, Ky., Sgt. Walter P. Bigelow, 28, from nearby Ogden, and Cpl. Ray Copeland, 22, Entiat, Wash. when they stumbled into a shepherd's camp.

Copeland and Felner, both Army men and Reagan were hitchhiking a ride on the C119 when the plane commander, Capt. Harry O. Blount, 33, Great Falls, Mont., ordered them to jump. The plane flew 150 miles on automatic pilot and crashed.

Reagan died the next day in Felner's arms. Felner said he was quickly preparing his own death bed in the snow when a search party found him. Blount was found a few hours after the parachute jump. He was

Deer Hunters Escape Heavy Missouri Rain

PIEDMONT, Mo. (AP)—Torrential rains hit southeast Missouri last night and a number of hunters gathered for the opening of deer season today narrowly escaped with their lives.

The heavy rains sent a number of small streams out of their banks, causing a series of flash floods. Unofficial reports were that about 11 inches of rain fell in a little more than one hour in the Fremont area of Carter County.

Several deer hunters lost both their cars and equipment.

Two St. Louis hunters, Woodrow T. Hunt and Chester Hall, blinded by the downpour, drove into rampaging McKenzie Creek near Piedmont and were swept into the flood.

Hunt, 45, swam out and summoned help. More than two hours later the exhausted Hall, 27, was found a mile downstream clinging to a tree limb in waist deep water.

Hall said the car was turning end over end in the flooding creek when he last saw it. They drove into the water at a low water bridge on a road between Clearwater Dam and Piedmont.

A party of 15 deer hunters from Scott County as temporarily trapped in cabins along Big Barries Creek in the Fremont area. They finally made their way out of the area in 3 cars.

Six other cars were either under water or washed away along with most of their equipment.

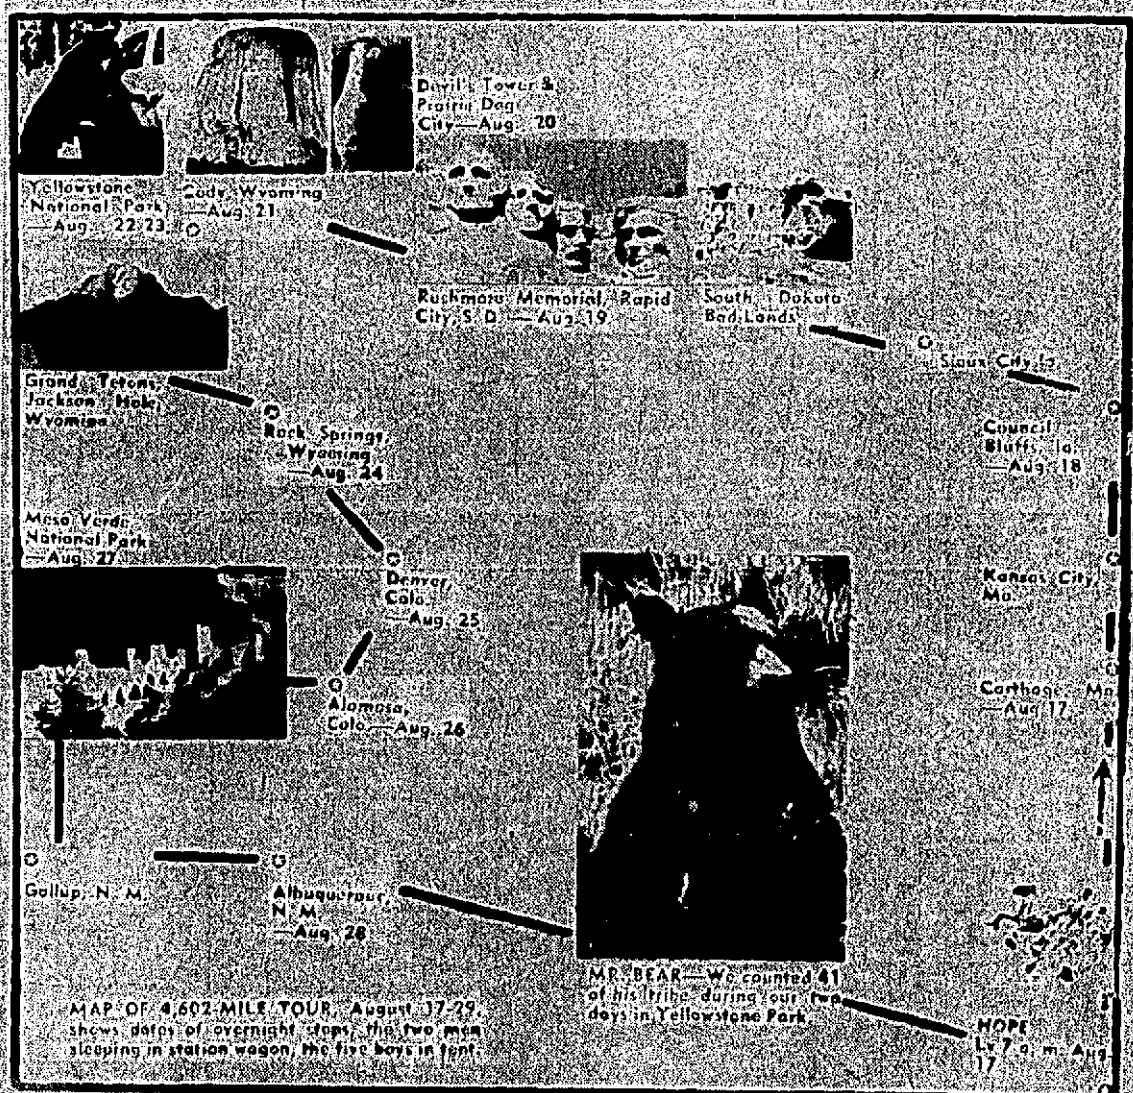

The flash flood on McKenzie Creek inundated low-lying sections of Piedmont, forcing the evacuation of about 20 families at midnight last night.

Hall was rescued by a search party of about 30, including members of the Piedmont Volunteer Fire Department.

Hope Star's Newsboy Tour of the Golden West—August 17-29, 1958

Pictorial map by Alex H. Washburn

This is a reduced photo copy of the cover page of the Golden West Tabloid.

Last August Hope Star took five Hope boys on an educational tour of the Golden West. The boys saw the bears in Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming, and the Indian cliff dwellings in Mesa Verde National Park, southwestern Colorado.

Publisher Alex H. Washburn took 230 black-and-white and 300 color photographs of the 4,602-mile tour. The best of the black-and-white will be presented in a 16-page pictorial tabloid on which the newspaper organization is now at work.

The tabloid will be printed on 45-pound Oxford book paper—a separate insert of beautiful appearance and permanency.

It will have an enduring appeal to the local public because of its interest to youth—the Hope Star newsboys and all their young friends—and to adults as well, because a surprising number of local people have made this tour and in this tabloid section they will find professional pictures of the places they themselves visited.

This Newsboys' Tour of the Golden West Edition offers an unparalleled opportunity for institutional or brand name advertising by local industries and business houses—a compact and beautiful tabloid section which will be preserved for years to come.

No more than half of the 16 pages will be available for advertising.

The Star is arranging for a special purchase of this magazine book paper and matching ink, on complete technical advice; however, if excessive ink smear or other technical problems makes its use impossible we reserve the right to produce the pictorial edition on standard newsprint—and swallow our $100 gamble. In any event, it will be a production Hope is bound to be proud of. Twenty-two years ago the librarian of the Alamo at San Antonio, Texas, wrote the Editor that our Arkansas Centennial was the best historical edition produced in either Arkansas or Texas in 1936.

The Golden West Tabloid section will be included in the regular edition of The Star on the date of issue, but the section will also be sold separately at 50¢ per copy.

Many folks will want to mail the Tabloid to distant friends, and request for extra copies should be made now so we can be guided as to our press run.

Four big reasons why

FORD IS OUTSELLING ALL OTHER '59 CARS

AT THE BRUSSELS WORLD'S FAIR, the '59 Fords were awarded the Gold Medal for handsome new styling elegance by the Comité Français de l'Elegance.

The world's best-selling car is the car with Thunderbird elegance

In the greatest styling decision of the year, the American public has already shown a clear preference for the new Fords. Ford sales are way ahead of all competition. Why? One reason is the classic simplicity of their Thunderbird-inspired design—clean, crisp lines that are pure automobile! And Fords are built for people—to sit in, to drive, to ride in—with comfort.

The car in hottest demand across the land has greater roominess and comfort

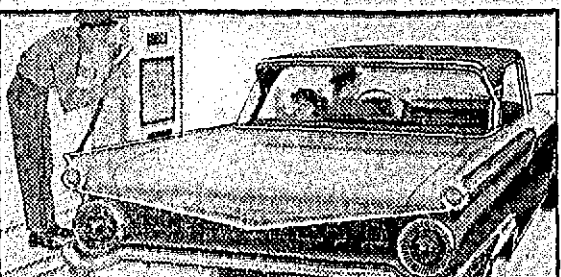

Thousands of customers have bought the new Ford over all competition for another compelling reason—it's a true six-passenger car. (The only four-passenger car we recommend is the Thunderbird!) All six Ford passengers get plenty of every kind of room—from leg and head to elbow and hip. Rear seat passengers don't feel like they're riding with their feet in a bucket!

The No. 1 car in sales saves money on gas, on oil, on maintenance bills

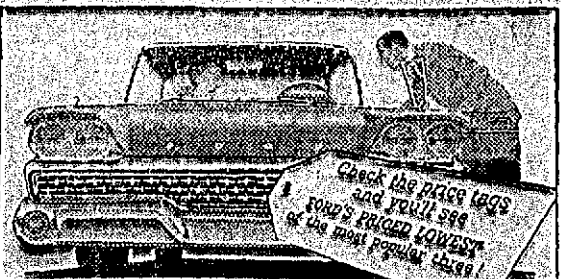

A new Ford will save you up to 5¢ a gallon on gas. That's because both standard engines—Six or Thunderbird V-8—thrive on regular gas. And Ford saves on oil, too, with a Full-Flow Oil Filter as standard equipment. Drive 4000 miles between oil changes! And you can forget about waxing your car. Ford's Diamond Lustre Finish stays gleaming bright without waxing—ever!

The most popular American car is priced as much as $102.75 lower

Ford costs you less right down the line than the competition. Compare prices tags and you'll see that the manufacturer's suggested retail price of a Ford, equipped with radio, heater and automatic transmission, is as much as $102.75 less than the major competition! And on an air-conditioned car, you can save up to $219.35. So compare and save on a 1959 Ford!

ANYONE CAN FIT IN A FORD: Our cars are built for people—full-size people who want space to stretch out. And all passengers ride in deep-cushion comfort.

YOU'LL BE THANKFUL EVERY TANKFUL if you buy the new Ford, for you'll save up to a dollar a tankful with new engines that run superbly on regular gas.
